Introduction to professional ethics in school

In conditions of absence in basic training of future educators on issues of ethics in education, the importance of formulating the question about “professional” ethics in the everyday life in school, seems to refer to a basic difficulty of determination (of the concept of profession, of ethics & their combination as well), with multiple extensions. Thus, the meaning of formulating this very question is crucial for their education.

Issues of professional ethics in Education

What do we mean by speaking about issues of “professional ethics”? What issues could be included in this area? These are questions or problems? These are issues mainly theoretical or practical? They are of urgent character? Are they perceived by (imposed to) anyone? Should they be perceived in the same way by everybody (as presenting an objective value)? What are their necessary presuppositions? What is the reason to rise such issues?
